BLAST KILLS 15 IN YANK BREMEN HQ

Rescue Boy Pinioned Under Bales

A mobile crane, operated by James Grande (inset) of Mattapan, sets about moving bales of wool under which 13-year-old Louis Molen of Flint st., Somerville, was pinioned today when a huge trailer truck on which he was riding toppled over in Commercial st., North End. Grande was working near by when the accident occurred and moved his vehicle over to rescue the boy, who was treated at City Hospital for arm and leg abrasions, and then released.

Two Blasts Kill Bremen Yanks

BREMEN, Germany, June 4 (AP)—Two mysterious explosions wrecked the U. S. military government's police headquarters in Bremen today, killing at least 15 Americans and Germans and injuring 80 others. An American safety officer, Maj. E. Russel Kennedy, Jr., of Washington, D. C., said he believed the disaster was caused "by a delayed action bomb."

Incomplete military reports up to 5 p. m. listed the following casualties:

Three Americans and 12 Germans dead, their bodies recovered.

Two Americans and an unestimated number of Germans missing and believed buried under debris.

Four Americans and 18 Germans seriously injured.

Ten Americans and 46 Germans slightly hurt.

Most of the German casualties were police and police auxiliaries.

The American dead were a sergeant interpreter, a private courier for the military government and a Marine captain who was recently attached to counter-intelligence here after long service in the Pacific.

A four-story green-camouflaged brick building in downtown Bremen, which until 40 days ago housed German SS detachments, the police headquarters was shattered shortly before 11 a. m., as if by a wartime blockbuster.

Two walls facing the inner courtyard collapsed in a burning mass of rubble which covered nearly a dozen parked military vehicles.

Confiscated German ammunition which had been stored in a ground floor room continued to explode for a half-hour while German firemen fought the blaze and international rescue squads searched for victims.

Maj. Kennedy was on the third floor at the time of the blasts and escaped with a cut forehead.

"The first blast panicked a line of civilians in the hall outside my office, and I tried to quiet them," he said. "The second blast, in a minute or two, blew me through a door into another room choked with dust and screaming people.

"The only thing I can figure for a cause was a delayed action bomb. The ammunition we had stacked up downstairs was all shells."

With the German police chief, Robert Schloemer, who was only slightly hurt, Kennedy stayed at the scene through the afternoon directing police squads.

OKINAWA—American forces (arrows) have today captured a hill 200 yards north of Karara, took Kamizato, and pushed past Shinzato in their drive toward the southeastern beaches of Okinawa.

Japs Say More Yanks Landed

GUAM, June 4 (AP)—In the greatest one-day advance in the Okinawa campaign, American infantrymen splashed two miles through drenching rains yesterday to the southeastern shore of the island, sealing off Chinen peninsula, which forms the southern arm of the finest fleet anchorage in the southern approaches to Japan.

Tokyo broadcasts quoted "unconfirmed reports" that U. S. amphibious assault units landed near the eastern tip of the peninsula to catch isolated Nipponese troops in a two-way trap while a fleet of more than 40 vessels moved into the anchorage—Nakagusuku bay.

Three other fleets, including two task forces which reappeared after an absence of 10 days, were reported by Tokyo to be in Okinawan waters.

Japanese propagandists told of suicide plane attacks on a heavily escorted convoy of "about 40 transports" moving past Oroku peninsula on the west coast, where other Yanks were arrayed today for a smashing drive on Naha airfield, the best in the Ryukyu islands.

In a two-hour "ramming assault," Tokyo said one unidentified craft was set afire.

The two-mile push through oozing red mud to the southern shores of Okinawa was made on 64th day of the campaign by Maj. Gen. Archibald V. Arnold's 7th Infantry Division.

Other elements of the division drove into Chinen peninsula itself where Japanese soldiers complicated the American assault by milling around among thousands of civilians.

Associated Press War Correspondent Al Dopkins reported that some frontline officers predicted the next 48 hours would tell whether disorganized Japanese remnants could be reformed into effective fighting forces.

On the north shore of Chinen peninsula Nipponese, with mortars and machine-guns, put up such a fight U. S. infantrymen called on a rocket boat to break up the enemy concentration.

Fighting Heavy In Philippines

MANILA, June 4 (AP)—Heavy fighting was under way yesterday northwest of Davao on Mindanao island, Maj. Gen. Roscoe B. Woodruff's 24th Infantry Division pursued the ousted Davao garrison into the mountains around 10,000-foot volcanic Mt. Apo.

Guerrilla forces under Col. Wendell Fertig captured Bayabas village Saturday after a brief but bloody hand-to-hand battle. Simultaneously, units under Col. William Herbeck took Alhambra, Mulig and Ula.

Other elements of the 24th Division under Col. Thomas Clifford pushed through the jungle west of Panacan.

On central Mindanao the 31st Infantry Division units were closing a large trap.

Haislip to Succeed Patch in 7th Army

WITH THE U. S. SEVENTH ARMY IN GERMANY, June 2 (Delayed by censor) (AP)—Lt. Gen. Wade H. Haislip, Washington, will succeed Lt. Gen. Patch as commander of the Seventh Army, it was learned today.

Suicide Pilots in Balloons To Raid U. S., Japs Boast

SAN FRANCISCO, June 4 (AP)—Jap propagandists predicted today the United States would be attacked in "the near future, by bomb-carrying stratosphere balloons manned by death-defying Japanese pilots."

The broadcast, by Domei news agency and recorded by the Federal Communications Commission, said Lt. Col. Shozo Nakajima, propaganda spokesman of the Nipponese armed services, made the prediction.

Nakajima said the pilotless balloon attacks, recently disclosed by the U. S. Army, were launched against America March 10, Japanese army day, and hundreds of them had been released from Japan every day since.

"The spokesman pointed out," Domei added, "that thus far these attacks have been on an experimental scale and he predicted when actual results of the experiment have been obtained, large scale attacks with death-defying airmen manning the balloons will be launched."

The dispatch, dated Singapore, added:

"The balloon bomb is one of Japan's unique originations and it is specially significant in that by the use of this method of bombing we can attack the enemy mainland directly from Japan—something that the enemy cannot boast of."

Nakajima complained that United States officials in releasing information about the balloons "did not divulge the extent of damage caused by the bombs."

"But we can surmise," he added, "they are creating great havoc in the enemy country."

Domei said the propaganda chief placed the ceiling of the balloons at "over 15,000 meters, far beyond the reach of enemy interceptors, and take just over 100 hours to reach the United States."

Tokyo Back To Normalcy, Japs Claim

SAN FRANCISCO, June 4 (AP)—Life in Toyko, a city which previously was reported "scorched to the ground," today has returned to "full normalcy," the Tokyo radio said.

A broadcast heard by FCC, however, gave a novel interpretation of normalcy by adding the "popular password," in the once great capital city is "living in my little underground shack," and that former streets "are now rapidly turning into small vegetable patches."

Public ultilities—gas, water, transportation and electricity—which were seriously disrupted by the two Superfortress fire raids late last month, again are "functioning as usual," Toyko claimed.

Residents of the city, "their homes burned, their loved ones lost, living in all sorts of makeshift camps, yet are carrying on, going on," it added, and that as the British did "in the hectic days of the summer of 1942," the Japanese "can take it."

Industrial Kobe and Osaka were said to be making "rapid" progress in rebuilding their firebombed factories."

Congress to Give Gen. Ike Welcome

WASHINGTON, June 4 (AP)—Gen. Eisenhower will be received by a joint session of Congress when he returns from Europe, June 18.

Senate Majority Leader Barkley of Kentucky told reporters of plans for the reception today after a conference with President Truman. Barkley said the date has not yet been set.

Homeland Japs Using New Plane Better Than U. S.

By GRANT MACDONALD

ABOARD V. ADM. McCAIN'S CARRIER FLAGSHIP OFF RYUKYU ISLANDS, June 3 (delayed)— (AP) —American carrier pilots reported they ran into aggressive Japanese pilots, flying better and faster planes than the Americans, in today's rocket strafing sweeps over southern Kyushu island airdromes.

The two-day strike at Kyushu brought the first definitely aggressive interception over Japan.

High ranking officers of V. Adm. John S. McCain's staff said the weather today was greatly improved over yesterday, but so was the enemy fighter opposition, which was sparked by a new type of high performance, high speed plane.

American pilots said the Japanese were very experienced pilots employing aggressive tactics similar to the American.

Despite the weather and the strong air opposition the following damage can be added to the more than 3000 Nipponese planes destroyed since the Okinawa operation began:

Six planes destroyed in air combat, three probably; three destroyed on the ground; five damaged.

De Gaulle, Allied Envoys Confer

PARIS, June 4 (INS)—Gen. Charles De Gaulle today conferred with the ambassadors to France of the United States, Great Britain and the Soviet Union.

American Ambassador Jefferson Cafferey, British Ambassador Alfred Duff Cooper and Russian Ambassodar Bogolubov each remained with De Gaulle for about half an hour.

While no official statement concerning their discussions was issued, it was believed they talked of preliminary steps to the holding of a conference on the Middle East muddle.

EXECUTE CHINESE GENERAL

CHUNGKING, June 4 (AP)—Informed sources said today Gen. Chiang Yen, a guerrilla leader, who fought with the famous 19th Route Army against the Japanese at Shanghai in 1932, had been executed March 22 at Paise, in Kwangsi, on orders of Chungking for having engaged in subversive activities.

Chinese Drive to Regain Bases

By SPENCER MOOSA

CHUNGKING, June 4 (AP)—The Chinese drove last night within 28 miles of strategic Liuchow, former U. S. air base, and Kwangsi province rail junction, the high command announced tonight.

In Hunan Province, the armies of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek closed within five miles west of Shaoyang (Paoching), another former base of the U. S. 14th Air Force. A second column closed Sunday within six miles northwest of the town.

The Chinese "are continuing their offensive," the communique added.

The important road center of Tsinkong (Chienkiang), 430 miles southeast of Chungking, fell to the Chinese.

A Chinese field dispatch asserted the Japs were moving large quantities of war supplies northward along the Siang river toward the Yangtze, and destroying the Canton-Hankow railroad between the junction city of Hengyang, 60 miles southeast of Shaoyang, and Changsha, 95 miles north of Hengyang.

This would mean the Japs were abandoning not only the corridor to Indo-China—where the gap is already 150 miles wide—but the corridor between Hankow and Hongkong.

At the southern end of the wedge, widened by the capture of Tsinkong and driven into the enemy's overland corridor from Korea to southeast Asia, Chinese troops reached the suburbs of Szelo 22 miles from the Indo-China frontier.

Lt. Gen. Albert C. Wedemeyer's headquarters, meanwhile, disclosed that an American land force, the "Mars" task force which saw action in Burma, had been in China for several weeks.

Union Plans Plea to End Salem Tieup

A plea to go back to work will be made tonight to 150 striking Salem bus drivers of the Eastern Massachusetts Street Railway Co., whose so-called wildcat walkout has inconvenienced 150,000 war workers and other commuters, John H. Cullen, union leader of the drivers, announced today.

Cullen, president of the Salem local of the Amalgamated Ass'n of Street, Electric Railway and Motor Coach Employes (AFL), issued the statement after a State House conference with Gen. Charles H. Cole, chairman of the State Board of Arbitration and Conciliation, and officers of the Army and Navy.

The Salem leader said the meeting would be called at 8 o'clock tonight. He did not elaborate.

The strikers are asking pay increases, shorter working hours, higher overtime pay and an increase in pensions from $38 to $50 monthly.

Salem and Lynn drivers walked out Saturday morning a few hours after union representatives had agreed to defer a general strike of 1800 workers, pending a referendum vote by 11 locals Wednesday.

The Lynn drivers returned to work Saturday afternoon after Gov. Tobin made a personal appeal to them.

To get workers to and from war plants today, some concerns organized fleets of private cars, trucks and other vehicles. The Salem division of the railway serves Salem, Beverly, Hamilton, Wenham, Peabody, Danvers, Middleton and Marblehead, and connects with Lynn and Lawrence.

Before the start of the State House conference today, Fred A. Cummings, vice president of the railway, announced the other 10 divisions of the company are operating normally.

Salem Pupils Not Worried By Bus Tieup

The busman's holiday taken by 125 drivers of the Eastern Massachusetts Street Railway Co. in Salem may have raised havoc with oldsters bent on getting to work today but to a lot of small fry it was no occasion for sorrow.

Take the son of Salem's superintendent of schools. His old man, by his own admission, could snooze a little longer, but Clyde W. McDermith, Jr., had to bike it fast.

Later, in a very sedate and scholastic tone of voice, the superintendent said: "I think you can safely say the children are not alarmed."

He added: "The bus strike probably has affected our attendance, perhaps to the extent of several hundred children and a number of teachers. It has inconvenienced many. I am thinking of children and teachers who have to make from two to four trips, the high school in particular."

Supt. McDermith had plaudits for his neighbors in the Willow section of Salem. "I noticed," he said, "the parents used their cars to take in other children, too."

Clyde, Jr., 11, hopped his bike at 8:30, early enough to hit the study hall on time. The superintendent could have another cup of coffee, a mild form of injustice often practiced by parents.

It didn't surprise him much on the way, let us guess, to see a few pupils kicking up their heels and not saying, "Goodness, will they never settle this strike of the bus drivers?"

The most reliable report, from folks who sit on toadstools and therefore can get a well-grounded view of the situation, was that as the long line of children wended its way, it was wended to baseball fields, fun of this or that sort, and all the things it can find, chanting "Here we go around the mulberry bush."

Scranton Car Strikers Hold to NWLB Defiance

SCRANTON, Pa., June 4 (AP)—Scranton's 400 transit workers continued to defy the National War Labor Board's orders today to end their work stoppage, now in its third week.

The decision to disregard the NWLB directive was reached at a meeting of the executive board of Local 168, Amalgamated Ass'n of Street, Electric Railway and Motor Coach Employes, AFL, yesterday.

Representatives of the union were scheduled to appear at a show - cause hearing today in Washington.

He and Joseph Bruno, president of the corporation, were convicted of refilling liquor bottles. Bruno is serving four months. Valenti was granted a stay of execution twice to settle business affairs.

Chief Detective-Inspector Thomas F. Rattigan said Herbert G. Gillett, 27, of this city, admitted holding up Sam Richman, 27, in his pawnshop this morning. Rattigan said after leaving the pawnshop the veteran decided to return the money to the victim, according to his confession. Rattigan quoted the former soldier as saying when he returned to the pawnshop, police had already arrived. Police said they took a revolver and 50 cartridges from the veteran.

The bill provides the increase would be not less than $300 nor more than $420 for the fiscal year beginning July 1.

Re-Wed Man's Reno Decree Invalid, Wife Wins Divorce

Although her husband obtained a Reno divorce in 1942 and married a Boston woman the following day, Mrs. Eudora Cutting Tucker of Belmont today was granted an uncontested divorce in Middlesex Probate Court by Judge Poland who declared the Nevada decree invalid.

Judge Poland said he was "satisfied Charles W. Tucker established no legal domicile in Nevada and went there expressly to obtain a divorce in circumvention of Massachusetts law."

"Under those circumstances, that divorce is not valid and Mrs. Tucker is entitled to a divorce in this court."

Mrs. Tucker, who charged desertion, testified Tucker left her and their four children in July, 1941. She said she received a legal notice in November, 1942, he was seeking a divorce at Reno and later learned the decree had been granted.

She testified Tucker married Evelyn M. Jones of Boston and returned to Newton to live. She said they now live in New York City.

Judge Poland granted her custody of two minor children, a daughter, 16, and a son, 13. The Tuckers were married in Cambridge, April 21, 1919.

Threatens Jail For Black Mart

Warning stiff jail terms will be imposed on black market operators, Federal Judge Francis J. W. Ford today urged criminal prosecution of violators of OPA regulations instead of the present civil actions.

"The brief jail sentences we have been meting out have not served as deterrents," he declared. "I can promise that from now on, no sentences of only six months to a year will be imposed.

"I doubt very much if juries will have much sympathy with black market violations with the meat situation as serious as it is," Judge Ford said.

He addressed his remarks to Allan Fishman, OPA enforcement attorney, who sought preliminary injunctions against two Bristol County meal dealers, restraining them from making overcharges for meat.

Judge Ford said his sentiments were shared by Judges Charles E. Wyzanski, Jr., Arthur D. Healey and George C. Sweeney.

Fishman explained the OPA civil action policy was aimed "at hitting the pocketbooks and we have been fairly successful."

"However, as your honor suggests, I think criminal action and heavier jail sentences would be more effective," he said.

Ford granted an injuction against John, Joseph, Emma and Alice Correia of South Dartmouth, doing business as Correia and Sons. The OPA seeks a judgment of $21,795 against the firm for alleged price overcharges in the sale of beef.

Max and Barney Israel of New Bedford, doing business as Max Israel and Son, were also restrained from future overcharges. Judgment of $37,827.06 against them is sought by the OPA.

Anderson Urges Food Curb on Army, Too

WASHINGTON, June 4 (AP)—Chairman Anderson (D.) of New Mexico of the House food committee, proposed today government agencies—including the Army—be given fixed quotas to prevent raids on civilian cupboards.

Anderson will become Secretary of Agriculture next month.

He suggested to President Truman that food allotments for the Army and overseas shipments, as well as for civilians, be assigned in three-month periods and that no agency be permitted to go beyond its allotment.

"We should have overall quotas that can't be shifted," he said, "so that OPA will know exactly what it will have for civilians."

Quarterly food allotments are made now on most foodstuffs, but they are not rigid. As a consequence the Army, which has first call, frequently exceeds its quota, thus putting a crimp in anticipated civilian supplies.

For the first two quarters of this year, as an example, the Army took far more sugar than it originally expected to use. Similarly it stepped up its set-aside of lard to 50 per cent of production when lard became scarce.

Pacific Shipments Big Drain on Butter

WASHINGTON, June 4 (INS)—A War Food Administration official said today the high food requirements of the Pacific war would take from civilian supplies enough butterfat this year to make 110,000,000 pounds of butter.

Tom G. Stitts, chief of the WFA dairy and poultry branch, told the House food investigating committee the armed forces would take three-fourths of the 1945 production of 225,000,000 pounds of dry whole milk powder.

In addition, he testified, the military services are requesting 150,000,000 pounds of dry ice cream mix.

Stitts explained 2,000,000,000 pounds of milk that formerly went into butter production was going into cream products for the armed forces.

Ike in Berlin Tomorrow

PARIS, June 4 (AP)—Authoritative reports today said Gen. Eisenhower would meet in Berlin tomorrow with Marshal Gregory K. Zhukov of Russia, Field Marshal Montgomery of Great Britain and Gen. Mark Koenig of France to organize the Allied control commission.

Kerrigan Raps Cable Rate Boost

A protest against the increase in cable rates from Boston to Europe, put into effect by the Federal Communications Commission, a jump giving New York a 20 per cent advantage over this city, was wired by Mayor Kerrigan today to House Majority Leader McCormack.

"San Francisco," telegraphed Kerrigan, "now has the same rate to Europe as Boston, despite greater distance."

Boston, he pointed out, was dogmatically told it would have to pay 24 cents a word, instead of the heretofore 20 cents a word, without advance notice to users of cables here.

FRANCES LANGFORD, SCREEN AND RADIO STAR
Brings Purple Heart Show to Nation's Airways

Wounded Hail Frances Langford At Opening of New Radio Series

LOS ANGELES, June 4—Seasoned veterans from the Philippines, Guadalcanal, Guam, Iwo Jima and Okinawa, who are patients at Corona Naval Hospital, crowded into the great auditorium of the hospital to thrill once again to the voice that has travelled 25,000 miles overseas during the past two years to entertain them in South Pacific battle lines.

To bring her talent to the largest possible audience of men in service and in hospitals, as well as civilians, Frances Langford, songbird of America's fighting forces, brought her Purple Heart Diary to the airwaves.

Replacing Edgar Bergen and Charlie McCarthy on the NBC network, Miss Langford, famed Hearst newspaper columnist and author of the Purple Heart Diary, opened her 13-week program, which will be heard on NBC stations Sundays at 6 p. m. (EWT).

Most of the 1700 enlisted Navy personnel who are patients at Corona Hospital, had heard Miss Langford repeatedly during her battlefront tours under USO auspices with Bob Hope and Jerry Colona.

Long after the program was off the air they called for encore after encore of popular songs she had sung for them in the days when the recapture of the Philippines was still an unfilled promise of Gen. MacArthur.

Mistress of ceremonies and star of the new nationwide radio show, the format of which is based on her hospital tours, Miss Langford introduced Tony Romano, well-known guitarist, who traveled with her and Bob Hope on their USO tours, and Spike Jones and his orchestra. They will appear with her during the 13-week series.

Each week there will be a well-known guest who will be co-featured with Miss Langford. The guest yesterday was screen comedian Charlie Ruggles.

During remaining broadcasts such stellar personalities as Bob Hope, Bing Crosby and Jerry Colona will be featured.

Next week's program will originate at Long Beach Naval Hospital.

Iron-Lung Soldier Flies 3548 Miles

INDIANAPOLIS, June 4 (AP)—A smiling young corporal from Ohio, encased in a portable iron lung, arrived today after a 22-hour flight from the Panama Canal zone.

The soldier, Cpl. Charles G. Moeller, 22, of Cincinnati, was stricken in February with infantile paralysis and was flown 3548 miles by the Army Air Transport Command, Ferrying Division, so he could be given better treatment in Billings General Hospital, Ft. Benjamin Harrison.

The flight was a special mission and carried only the crew, six medical attendants and a friend of Moeller's, T5 Rufus E. White.

Moeller was placed in a regulation iron lung immediately.

Grew Backs Peacetime Draft of Youth

By RAYMOND WILCOVE

WASHINGTON, June 4 (INS)—Acting Secretary of State Grew today gave his whole-hearted support for a permanent peacetime draft of the nation's youth.

The secretary was the first witness as the administration launched its fight for one year of compulsory military training before the House committee.

If the United States had been "even reasonably prepared" in 1941 Grew said, "I don't believe for a moment that Japan would have attacked us."

Grew's testimony listed three reasons for his support of compulsory military training:

1—U. S. obligations under the world security organization require that this country supply its complement of armed force to the United Nations pool.

2—"In the world of things as they are, our international policy to be effective must have strength behind it."

3—"My experience has taught me that aggressors are not deterred by latent superior strength, but shrewdly try to obtain their ends by attacking when they consider their potential opponents unprepared and therefore at a disadvantage."

Flier, Back from 'Dead', Joins Wife Who Re-Wed

By HAROLD LISK

PORTSMOUTH, O., June 4 (INS) — A 27-year-old Portsmouth Army flier "returned from the dead" today to his pretty 23-year-old wife who had since remarried.

"We are going on from where we left off three years ago," said 1 Lt. Harold Goad. "It's the rest of my life with Helen," he said, and his pretty wife nodded her approval.

The Portsmouth flier recounted briefly how he was shot down when a shell from a Jap cannon firing fighter plane hit his B-24 gas tank over Burma.

"Five of us got out of the plane alive," he said. "The other five surely died in the plane."

Lieut Goad had been back in the United States several days and had spent the last three, unknown to anyone other than relatives, with his blonde wife in Cincinnati.

The reunion climaxed speculation in one of the strangest marital mixups of World War II.

Mrs. Goad, four months after the lieutenant was reported dead, was married to Ensign Robert A. MacDowell of Saugerties, N. Y.

Attorneys pointed out the second marriage is not recognized and that court procedure to clear the record is all that is necessary to prevent bigamy charges being filed against Mrs. Goad.

Tall, thin and well tanned, the dark-haired, good-looking lieutenant asserted he was "sorry" for Ens. MacDowell, who had been informed by Helen of her choice of her first husband. MacDowell at present is on duty in the Pacific.

Goad is on a 60-day furlough and must report to Miami, Fla., after that time for reassignment.

"I love flying and would like to stay in the Army, if they'll let me," the lieutenant said as Helen nodded and added:

"We'll just be another Army couple."

Lt. Goad and Helen Zuhars were high school sweethearts. Harold entered the Air Corps in 1941 and was commissioned in 1942. They were married April 21 of that year while he was stationed in Texas.

Lt. Goad was sent overseas in January, 1943, and his wife returned to Portsmouth Oct. 14, 1943. Mrs. Goad later went to Miami, Fla., as a receptionist for a commercial airline. There she met Ensign MacDowell and fourteen months after Goad's plane was shot down they were married.

4 or 5 Killings Seen in Hudson River Mystery

NEW YORK, June 4 (AP)—A new mystery involving parts of human bodies taken from the Hudson river puzzled police today when the mother and brother of Joseph Mastropole of Far Lawn, N. J., said the upper half of a man's body taken from the river yesterday was not that of Mastropole.

The lower part of a man's body taken from the river near Edgewater, N. J., May 8 was identified by Mastropole's wife. Since that time three burlap bags filled with sections of human flesh have been recovered from the river and New Jersey police said indications were that at least three men had been slain.

Failure of Mastropole relatives to identify the latest find led police to believe four or five slayings confront them.

Mrs. Josephine Mastropole and her son, Carmelo, of Garfield, N. J., mother and brother of Mastropole, viewed the torso today at Bellevue morgue and shook their heads.

"It is not my son," Mrs. Mastropole said.

Kerrigan in Plea For Housing Bill

Mayor Kerrigan today forwarded to the joint ways and means committee of the Legislature an urgent request for favorable and speedy action on House Bill 89, which would enable private capital to improve substandard housing conditions in Boston at low rates to the small wage earner. The mayor wrote the committee:

"This legislation would make a home possible for the man who must carry it for no more than $25 or $30 a month. I am particularly anxious to help the man earning less than $2000 a year."

Kerrigan cited sections in East Boston, South Boston, the older areas of Roxbury, and the North, West and South Ends as needful of improvements which would be encouraged under the terms of the bill.

Polygamist Dad Of 6 Gets 6 Mos

Joseph R. Russo, 27, who startled folks a while ago by admitting he managed to wear $15 hats while supporting two wives and a total of six children—four by the first, two by the second—while working in a rather minor department store job, got six months for his genius today.

Russo pleaded guilty before Judge Brown in superior court to polygamy and to larceny of $237 from the department store (hats included.)

Wife No. 1 was in court. She simply observed. Wife No. 2 was not in court. Russo will be a bachelor until Dec. 4.

Burns Kill 2d Cambridge Girl; Firebug Hunted

Fourteen-year-old Ruth Kelly died today at Cambridge City Hospital of burns and injuries received yesterday in a 25-foot leap during a fire in her Broadway, Cambridge, home.

Her sister, Eleanor, 25, was burned to death in the fire, believed by officials to have been set.

Belief that the fatal fire was incendiary followed discovery of a second blaze in a house on Market st., less than 100 yards from the Kelly home in Broadway, Mrs. Rocco DeFrancisco and five children were rescued over ladders in the second fire, only a few hours after the Broadway blaze. Both fires started in the rear of the houses and spread rapidly upward.

The Kelly sisters were trapped in their smoke-filled bedroom. Ruth suffered third degree burns before she groped to the window and jumped. Eleanor's burned body was found on the floor by firemen.

Meanwhile, their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Roy W. Kelly, two other Kelly children and three boarders fled to safety. John Kelly, 17, and Patricia, 15, escaped by dropping 25 feet into an alleyway from bedroom windows.

Eleanor's father, a Cambridge street department mechanic, had to be forcibly restrained from going back into the house when he learned his daughter was trapped.

Gold Star Mothers' Monument Asked

Mayor Kerrigan today wrote President Truman to ask his consideration of an idea to erect a national monument to Gold Star mothers and to ask also that a suitable medal be made for such mothers.

WASHINGTON, June 4 (INS)—The Maritime Commission disclosed today a 11,000-ton aircraft cargo carrier will be named in honor of the late Joseph V. Connolly, president of King Features Syndicate and International News Service.

Tentative date for the launching of the ship is set for July 7, at Panama City, Fla., where it is under construction at the J. A. Jones yards.

Barnes Presses for Probe Of Truck Drivers' Union

Urging the legislative joint committee on rules to favor an order calling for investigation of the action of Locat 25, Truck Drivers, Chauffeurs and Helpers' Union in suspending Pasquale Lorizio after he testified in favor of a bill requiring unions to make financial statements, Atty. Gen. Barnes today said the issue is "as big as the country we live in."

Rep. Clarence Telford (R.) of Plainville, sponsor of the order, declared that the union charged Lorizio had violated its rules in making statements before the legislative committee on labor and industries where he supported two bills filed by Barnes requiring financial accountings and barring political contributions by unions.

Calling Lorizio's suspension a "direct slap in the face of the legislature" Telford told the legislative committee that "many members of organized labor" had told him over the weekend they were in favor of the proposed investigation.

He further stated Lorizio had been accused of making false statements about officers of his union.

Barnes, whose two bills were rejected by the legislature, told the Rules Committee today he believed the expulsion was a violation of the constitutional rights of free speech.

"It's up to the committee to decide if this union has been in contempt of the legislature," Barnese declared. "This issue is larger than Lorizio or this committee or the legislature."

Testifying before the committee Lorizio said when he and several others were suspended last winter, they were ordered to appear in Miami Feb. 4 for a hearing.

He quoted from an article he said was by international President Daniel J. Tobin in the union magazine "International Teamster" printed late in January in which it was stated those suspended were out to stay "if it takes every dollar in the international treasury."

Questioned by Sen. Richard S. Bowers (R.) of Brookline, Lorizio said that despite his suspension from the union he was still in his capacity of truck driver and that "no one has come around to take me off. This is a departure from the general procedure," he continued. "In most cases of suspension the man is forced to find new employment."

Women Buying 69 P. C. of Cigs

NEW YORK, June 4 (AP)—Women are buying 69 per cent of the nation's civilian cigaret supply.

This is the finding of a survey conducted by Fleming Hall Co., New York cigaret manufacturers, among 18,000 retailers over the country.

The survey further showed the average smoker gets only 50 per cent of the value of his cigaret.

To determine this, 50,000 cigaret buts from ashtrays in war plant cafeterias and restrooms, movie houses, theaters, restaurants, athletic fields and arenas, were collected and measured. They showed that the average person smokes only one inch of a cigaret, and wastes half of his day's supply.

OPA Cancels 25-Cent Coal Delivery Charge

WASHINGTON, June 4 (AP)—OPA ruled today that consumers no longer may be charged the extra 25 cents a ton for coal allowed when dealers were restricted to one-ton deliveries.

The one-ton limitation, imposed in February in all or part of 18 states and the District of Columbia because of coal shortage, has been rescinded. Revocation of the price premium is effective June 9.

Seiler Elected Head of Ancients

Joined by youthful veterans of World War II, the Ancient and Honorable Artillery Company today held the 307th annual June Day celebration with memorial services and the traditional drumhead election on Boston Common.

Capt. Seiler

Minus colorful delegations from other cities due to wartime travel restrictions, the local units lunched at Faneuil Hall and then paraded to the State House where Gov. Tobin joined them in a march to new Old South Church, Copley sq., for the memorial exercises.

Andrew S. Seiler was elected captain at the election held before a large crowd on the Common.

Capt. Seiler and other officers were commissioned by Gov. Tobin in a ritual handed down from Revolutionary days.

The anniversary dinner will be enjoyed tonight in Copley-Plaza Hotel. Returned servicemen and members of the Special Headquarters and Service Company, Massachusetts State Guard, will be honored guests, in addition to Gov. Tobin, Mayor Kerrigan and other dignitaries.

Dud That Isn't

WITH 24TH DIVISION, Mindanao, June 4 (AP)—"Look, fellas, this one's a dud," Cpl. Roger F. Manz, Pittsburgh, Pa., said after a Jap mortar shell caromed off his arm and bounced, unexploded, against the side of his foxhole.

He picked up the still hot shell, looked it over and tossed it out of his foxhole.

There was a terrific explosion.

"Everybody's gotta be wrong once in a while," Manz muttered as he picked himself up.

How One Sailor Reacts To a Hackneyed Welcome

By ROBERT MYERS

HOLLYWOOD, June 4 (AP)—An unidentified sailor stood on the dock watching the welcoming ceremony as the Navy hospital ship USS Comfort, her decks lined with survivors of a Jap suicide pilot's bombs off Okinawa, eased into port.

"Nuts!" he said. That was his summation of the ceremony.

He had seen a quartet of movie actresses stand before a loudspeaker microphone and gush such greetings as:

"Hell—O, gang. My, we're soooo proud of you! I don't know what to say—except welcome home, gang. Goo'by, now."

"Blah, blah," said the sailor.

Introductino of each "famous actress" was accompanied by the inevitable plug for her "latest picture."

"Who the hell care about her latest picture?" demanded the sailor.

And when a young hula dancer, dressed in as little as possible, abruptly appeared and began to squirm around on the platform, he said:

"That does it! What business has a naked hula dancer got with this?"

Only refreshing part of this "Hollywood welcome" came when a girl got up, introduced herself simply, and then proceeded to sing her head off to the cheers of the returning passengers.

The singer: Dinah Shore. She didn't mention her "latest picture."

Lone Sub Blows up Hidden Jap Convoy

By WILLIAM E. ZIMMERMAN

WASHINGTON, June 4 (INS) — The Navy disclosed today a convoy of Jap ships was blown up by an American submarine in a spectacular attack inside a heavily-guarded hidden harbor.

As sensational as the raid itself was the escape of the 1500-ton sub, the U. S. S. Barb, which got away safely after an hour's running battl eon the surface of waters filled with mines, rocks and fishing boats.

The Navy described the place as a "concealed haven on one of the attenuated Japanese lifelines of supply." Mention of fishing junks indicated the point of attack may have been in the south China sea.

The Navy did not reveal the number of Jap ships destroyed but said the convoy was "one of the best targets ever presented by the enemy," including freighters, tankers and munition ships.

Commanding the submarine was Com. Eugene B. Fluckey of Annapolis, Md., who observed so many Jap ships at anchor that he was filled with anxiety whether he could so spread his torpedoes so too many would not be wasted on one target.

For display of heroism above and beyond the call of duty, Fluckey has been awarded the Congressional Medal of Honor and the submarine has received the presidential unit citation.

The attack, which occurred at night when "visibility was poor, was described by the Navy as "virtually a suicide mission—a naval epic."

"Persistent in her search for vital targets, the U. S. S. Barb relentlessly tracked down the enemy and struck with indomitable fury despite unfavorable attack opportunity and severe countermeasures," said the citation awarded the submarine.

"Handled superbly, she held undeviatingly to her aggressive course and, on contacting a concentration of hostile ships in the lower reaches of a harbor, boldly penetrated the formidable screen.

"Riding dangerously in shallow water, the Barb launched her torpedoes into the enemy group to score devastating hits on the major targets, thereafter retiring at high speed on the surface in a full hour's run through uncharged, heavily-mined and rock-obstructed waters.

"From the bridge Com. Fluckey could observe Japanese ships erupting in the night like a nest of volcanoes."

The Bard escaped scores of shells from the gunboats in the battle and made her getaway. She reached open water just at dawn. A Jap plane was spotted and she was forced to submerge.

Veterans' Friend

By JAMES F. McENANEY

Q—Several months ago my son's name was listed as receiving the Bronze Star Medal for heroic achievement on D-Day, but he has never received it. Where can I find out about it for him? I. O., New Bedford.

A—Write to Awards & Decorations Sub-Branch, Adjutant General's Office, 72-7¼ Wall st., New York, N. Y., giving the soldier's full name, Army serial number, Army address, and date of the award.

Q—Will you please tell me where to obtain information as to the background of a soldier in whom I am very much interested? T. Y., Leominster.

A—I suggest that you write to his chaplain—it is not necessary to have the name; simply use the title and the same address you use for the soldier—or to his former employer.

Q—Does a soldier lose his rights to mustering out pay if he applies for a discharge when he reaches the required age of 40? Mrs. B. H., Fall River.

A—The soldier does not lose his right to mustering out pay.

Q—I receive $37 Family Allowance from my son in the Army. My neighbor's son is in the Navy, and she receives $50. He has been gone less than two weeks and she has received a check already; my son has been in the service over three years and I had to wait almost three months for the first check. Why does she receive more than I, and why did I have to wait so long?

A—Thirty-seven dollars is the amount of Family Allowance paid to a parent when evidence submitted in support of application shows a substantial degree of dependency only; when the evidence shows the person is dependent for chief support the amount paid is $50. In either case the serviceman contributes $22. If you feel you are entitled to chief support, send an itemized statement of monthly living expenses and income to Office of Dependency Benefits, Newark, N. J., giving soldier's full name and Army serial number, and request review of your application.

Q—I filed an application for Family Allowance but it was turned down because my son did not wish payment made to me. What can I do about it? I want to save it for him because I know he won't save anything. E. N., Boston.

A—Family Allowance is paid to a parent only when he or she is dependent upon the soldier, and the soldier is willing that payment should be made. Even if your son was willing, it would not be paid you unless you established the fact of dependency by certificate. It is not intended for savings.

Q—My husband was killed in action a month ago. He carried government insurance and I've been told it will be paid to me in monthly installments of about $50. I have two small children and I understand a pension would amount to about $75 for the three of us. If I forfeit the insurance, would they pay the pension instead? L. B., Milton.

A—The amount of pension for a widow and two children of a serviceman killed in action is $78 of which $50 is for the widow, $15 for the first child and $13 for the second. You may receive both pension and insurance.

Q—My husband was taken prisoner by the Germans in December. I have heard from him and he has never received any of the Christmas packages I sent to him. What becomes of these packages? Mrs. R. S. S., Vermont.

A—Such packages would be marked "Prisoner-of War" by an officer designated to certify the status of the soldier, and returned to the sender. If they are not received, Form 1510 may be obtained from your local post office and filed for claim of the package. The postal clerk will furnish instructions for completing the form.

Q—My son has been in the Army three years and has been overseas. His points total 78. Does that mean that with seven more months he will have the 85 and can be discharged? J. P. Roslindale.

A—No. Serviceman's points, upon which he is discharged, must have been accumulated prior to 12 May, 1945, according to present plan.

Fox Acting City Collector

Mayor Kerrigan today named City Registrar Francis J. Fay as acting superintendent of public buildings and City Auditor Charles J. Fox as acting city collector pending appointment of permanent successors to three officials ousted on charges of non-co-operation with the administration.

Fay filled the vacancy left by removal of Leo A. Power and Fox replaced Merritt Thompson. No interim successor was named to replace Joseph Dever of Newton, former transit commission chairman.

Political observers predicted Kerrigan would name the permanent successors within the next two days.

Conference Faces Open Floor Fight

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

SAN FRANCISCO, June 4 (AP)—The United States is seeking some way out of the conference stalemate on the veto voting issue, but without the slightest yielding on its own insistence that there must be no veto on the right of discussion in a world security council.

If American leadership fails to break the deadlock—in which Russia is at odds with this country, Britain, China and France on this one point—the United Nations Conference may produce a wide-open floor fight in its closing days.

And even though the charter is approved as it now stands, it may be accepted by some countries only with reservations, Guillermo Belt, Cuban delegate, said that would be true in the case of his country and that he expects many small nations to stick together on the veto issue.

Ambassador Andrei Gromyko has reported to Moscow that the other big powers would not accept his government's rigid interpretation of the veto, and this puts the next move up to Moscow as to whether its interpretation may be softened.

Another Big-Five meeting was called for today and the powers were reported making rapid progress toward resolving all other conference issues.

Last night's meeting completed agreement in principle if not in actual words on 14 out of 18 problems before them when the current series of speed-up talks started.

Questions other than the veto on which no agreement has been reached are final points in a plan for international trusteeships, changes in wording which the French are asking in provisions for special defense treaties against the enemy states of this war, whether the proposed assembly of all United Nations should have the right to discuss any international situation rather than just peace and security questions, and whether the veto vote should apply to charter amendments.

Soldiers and Solons In 'Gloves-Off' Talk

ROME, June 4 (AP)—A U. S. Senate subcommittee on interstate commerce and 250 American enlisted men discussed informally and frankly last night a wide range of subjects, including American-Russian relations and Communism in Europe.

The Army newspaper Stars and Stripes reported some of the soldiers' questions but without the answers supplied by Senators Hawkes (R.) of New Jersey, Wheeler (D.) of Montana, McFarland (D.) of Arizona and Capehart (R.) of Indiana and the Senators ruled much of the discussion "off the record." The meeting took place at a Red Cross club.

One staff sergeant, who said 200 to 300 Italian civilians were working under his Army unit said:

"We have won the decision here; it is up to us to hold it. We are feeding them. Communism is winning their hearts. Why?"

This sergeant, replying to a Senator's question, said education in democracy was needed.

Stars and Stripes quoted a private as saying he had been told in his Army orientation talks the United States, Britain and the Soviet Union all were fighting the same war. He had never been told, he said, of an imminent conflict between the United States and Russia. He asked:

"What is this conflict? Why has the discussion here taken such a trend?"

(Obviously he referred to some of the "off the record" discussion. The replies to his questions were not recorded.)

Another private asked: "Hasn't Russia done its share of winning the war? Why fight the Russians?"

In a discussion about the war debt, one soldier asked who would pay it. One of his comrades yelled, "You will." Another soldier said:

"For heaven's sake, tell 'em to stop proposing new payments of bonuses to soldiers. Tell them we'd be willing to pay them to get out of the Army."

A staff sergeant queried: "What about the French and their Gestapo-like treatment of the Arabs?" The reply was not recorded in the Army newspaper. Another soldier wanted to know whether Great Britain should not be criticized for its policy on Greece if Russia was being criticized for its policy regarding its neighbors.

The first question asked of the Senators was why Italy was not getting more aid from the United States. A Senator replied: "How would you help Italy?" The soldier shot back:

"You're being paid to be a Senator and to answer such questions."

WEEI 7:40 to 7:55 A. M.

'Crush Japan' Plea Spurs Bonds

Officials of the Massachusetts War Finance Committee today urged increased buying of war bonds by the public to support President Truman's program for the crushing of Japan.

"The President's statement that this nation will not relax until total victory has been achieved emphasizes the need of early and complete subscription of the Seventh War Loan," WFC officials declared.

Total sales of E bonds in the State have mounted to $56,400,000 or 40.3 per cent of the $140,000,000 quota, while total sales to individuals reached $116,100,000 or 48.8 per cent of the $238,000,000 quota.

Individual purchases in Greater Boston totalled $79,082,000 or 52.4 per cent of the quota of 150,801,000 E bond purchases reached $33,877,000 of a quota of $84,308,000.

Moving into Greater Boston today to aid in the bond-selling drive is the Infantry Concert Group, an organization of 18 soldiers who were formerly members of nationally known orchestras and symphonies. Its first appearance will be in Robbins Memorial Hall, Arlington, tonight, and tomorrow night at Belmont High School.

DISTRIBUTING telephones on a bargain counter basis (everyone for himself) would be a quick way for us to dispose of available facilities. But would it be best for all concerned? For example, shouldn't those whose work is important to the war effort or to the safety and health of the community have preference?

Communications are very close to the public welfare, especially in wartime. That is why we distribute telephones only in strict conformity to Government regulations set up for that purpose.

People agree that this system is fair. Under it, no one can get a telephone out of turn.

As each new application for service comes in, we check it in the light of these regulations and existing facilities. The waiting applications are reviewed periodically . . . none is overlooked. And applicants are asked to keep us informed of any change in their circumstances which would alter their application status.

So, because available facilities are distributed according to a well-considered plan, there is no opportunity to get service except under rules which people tell us they think are fair rules, fairly administered.

High Winds Call for Extra Garden Care

By FOSTER H. WEISS

(Head of Vegetable Gardening Dept., Norfolk County Agricultural School and Director of the Boston Record-American and Sunday Advertiser Victory Garden on Boston Common.)

Changes in weather at this time will call for different methods of care and handling of crops by V-gardeners. Prevailing strong winds have had a bad effect on newly set out plants.

Regardless of how much care is taken in lifting plants from the frames or flats, the roots are damaged, and it takes several days for them to become re-established. During this period the plants still lose moisture through the leaves. Wind causes too rapid loss of water, with the result that plants may have the foliage burned.

To prevent this damage, be sure to set plants firmly, water carefully, and shelter plants by covering with a flower pot or basket if they do not seem to be taking hold. In most cases they will come through all right.

Gardeners who are planning to stake tomatoes must realize that pruning should start as soon as the side shoots appear. Look for these shoots in the axis of each leaf, and pinch them out when they are small. Do not remove the leaves, and be careful not to move the fruit or blossom clusters.

In training tomatoes to a stake, be sure that the stem is not tied too tight, and that the blossom cluster is away from the stake. All blossom clusters will form on the same side of the plant, so start them off right. Tie plants up before they start to lay over, as this will keep the stem straight and avoid whipping by the wind.

87 years at fine whiskey-making makes this whiskey good

Registering the barrels in which whisky is aged at the distillery.

You'll remember the difference in this fine whiskey—It's the whiskey-wisdom Hiram Walker has gained through all the years since 1858. It's something that cannot be weighed or measured—but you can tell it's there, in every mellow drop of Imperial.

IMPERIAL
Hiram Walker's Blended Whiskey

It takes barrels of money to win a war.

The $335 of excise tax paid on every barrel of whiskey . . . more than one billion dollars a year from the distilling industry . . . is only a fraction of America's war cost. It takes all the money you can put into war bonds, too! Buy more . . . hold them!

86 Proof. The straight whiskies in this product are 4 years or more old. 30% straight whiskey. 70% neutral spirits distilled from grain. Hiram Walker & Sons Inc., Peoria, Illinois

C. S. Church Has Peace Formula

Lasting world peace must be rooted in divine laws and not in selfish desires and aims, the Christian Science board of directors declared today at the annual meeting of The Mother Church of Christ, Scientist.

"The manifestation of God's law can never fail to quiet the turbulent waters, but we must assiduously strive to rule out any qualities which would work against, rather than for the peace of the individual and therefore of the world," the directors stated.

Mrs. Myrtle Smith

"There can be no lasting peace where selfishness reigns," the statement declared in urging the San Francisco conferees to "reflect the operation of God's government in human affairs."

Mrs. Myrtle Holm Smith of Wabarn was elected president of The Mother Church, succeeding Paul Stark Seeley. Treasurer Roy Garrett Watson and Clerk Mary G Ewing were re-elected

CONGRESS AWAKE AT LAST

THE RENEWED campaign in Congress for establishment of Army and Navy academies on the Pacific Coast, as permanent institutions for the training of military and naval officer personnel, has received powerful impetus from Chairman Andrew J. May of the Military Affairs Committee of the House of Representatives.

The present attitude of Chairman May is all the more important because it reflects a marked CHANGE in his personal position on the subject.

Measures embodying the West Coast proposal have frequently been before his committee in past years, and in fact almost CONTINUOUSLY before it, but he has never encouraged their consideration.

Now he frankly ADMITS his error, acknowledging that the nation's wartime experience "warrants fullest and most FAVORABLE consideration" of the proposition.

It is the highest form of political courage to admit a mistake, and Chairman May has amply demonstrated his courage in that respect.

"It has become painfully obvious that the nation is now poorly balanced in the matter of officer training," he asserts.

"Professional education is being given on the East Coast, whereas the West Coast has been shown by this war to be MORE IMPORTANT BY FAR in the careers of officers.

"It is unfortunate that both Army and Navy academies were not PLACED ON THE WEST COAST YEARS AGO, for officer education with stress of Pacific situations is now seen to be our great need."

THE VALUE of this change of attitude on the part of Chairman May is impossible of exaggeration.

It should result in immediate and comprehensive and impartial HEARINGS on the subject, which it has never had before.

Moreover, it unquestionably reflects a change in attitude in even more important quarters.

The opposition in Congress to the West Coast academies has always been of two kinds.

The most consistent and persistent opposition had its basis in the ancient traditions of the military and naval services, which held the venerable West Point and Annapolis academies in such reverence that only blind eyes and deaf ears were turned to the inadequacies of those institutions.

But the most damaging opposition was the product of the prevailing disposition in Congress to regard the West Coast proposal as SECTIONAL in motive.

Both of these sources of opposition have been refuted by the nation's war experience, as Chairman May now agrees.

THE ARMY and Navy have been compelled by their own necessity and urgency—by their own desperation, in fact—to establish emergency officer training facilities in the Western States and to rely upon them almost exclusively.

The national INTEREST in these reliable and essential establishments has been so plainly served that any further talk or hint of sectional advantage in the matter is reduced to absurdity.

Our national dependency on West Coast training facilities will not end with the war. It will be intensified by the coming of peace—a fact which Chairman May emphasized.

Congress is in a mood at last to study this matter on the basis of its own merits, and in the light of the nation's war experience—a belated attitude, certainly, but a most commendable one.

FOUR U. S. MARINES, each having a three-year-old son, sent me snapshots of the youngsters to decide which baby was "the best looking." What a spot to be in! Deciding which baby is the best - looking is tougher than umpiring a 20-inning game between the Giants and Dodgers. Anyway, the above poem is dedicated to all the sons of the aforementioned marines . . . FAIR ENOUGH

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Copyright, 1945, King Features Syndicate, Inc.

NEW YORK, June 4—President Truman has proposed unemployment pensions of at least $25 a week, if not more, for certain classes of civilians who may be unable to find jobs or unwilling to work, for 26 weeks per year and, presumably for more than one year, during the transition period.

Westbrook Pegler

In his message to Congress he said: "Every eligible worker should be entitled to 26 weeks of benefits in any one year if his unemployment continues that long. The maximum payment, at least for the worker who has dependents, should be raised from the present levels to not less than $25 a week."

That might suggest a flat $25 a week for all hands for at least two periods of one half-year each, which would be a total of $1300 a client.

But we must try to weigh the word "eligible." Eligibility is fixed by State laws and not many of these laws would ordinarily regard as eligible for such relief a person who refused work at $25 a week.

However, if a minimum of $25 is a mere dole then nobody can be expected to work for that pay. And most individuals would rather be idle on $25 than work for $35, in which case the actual pay for the job would be reckoned at only $10 a week.

NOW WE FIND Mr. Truman recommending that the "maximum payment" be raised to not less than $25 a week for the worker with dependents. In other words, he would be pleased if the pension were even higher, perhaps $50 or $75.

That scale of income would be taxable under the income tax laws of the nation and most States if it were earned by work or the investment of savings.

But we never tax doles so a reliefer living in idle ease in one house on a street, and spending 26 weeks a year fishing or golfing, would go untaxed.

The man next door who worked for his living at the same rate of income, or less, would pay taxes for the loafer's support.

We must consider, also, the temptation to his wife, who has been self-supporting during the war boom, to give up her job, too, and become "dependent" again in order that the head of the family may qualify for the unemployment pension at the highest rate which, is not necessarily $25 a week but might be $50 or $75.

OF COURSE, in many industrial areas $25 a week is no longer a decent wage, but in many areas it is still sufficient. And the reason why it is paltry in some regions is that, from the beginning of the war boom, the late President Roosevelt refused to consider the suspension of the 40-hour week, even though there was work enough to keep all the available talent busy all day Saturday and overtime on other days.

Instead, overtime was paid for hours in excess of 40 a week, including double time for Sundays and bonuses for certain inconvenient shifts.

The result was that the labor costs of the war effort were greatly increased.

ONE EXCUSE for the continuation of the 40-hour week, which was a job-stretching service adopted during the depression, was that the workers would be enabled to save enough money to tide them over the transition period.

They were going to buy War Bonds and put away all their overtime earnings. When the war ended they were going to draw on this, and the dole that is now proposed would be unnecessary.

However, it appears that very little of this inflationary pay was saved.

MR. TRUMAN seems to have ignored the great treasuries of the unions which collected not mere millions but billions from most of these workers.

This was possible under an arrangement with the government whereby such payments were compulsory. Initiation fees in many cases were $500, and fees of $200, $100 and $50 were common.

As soon as their initiation fees were paid up in weekly instalments some workers were fired.

New victims were then taken on the payrolls, who, in turn, were laid off eventually. That is inviolate. There is no suggestion that such unions help to tide over the displaced workers or that any part of the cash be taken by taxes to pay the unemployment pensions proposed by President Truman.

Hollywood Today

HOLLYWOOD, June 4 (INS)—Highly important to motion pictures is the personal invitation from Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower to the heads of our industry to visit the devastated areas of Europe.

Four producers were previously scheduled to go overseas to visit five countries in Europe. Nine film executives now are going. In the list are Jack Warner of Warner Bros., Eddie Mannix of MGM, Barney Balaban of Paramount, Spyros Skouras of 20th Century-Fox, Cliff Work of Universal, Charles Koerner of RKO, Harry Cohn and Sidney Buckman of Columbia and Sol Lesser, independent producer.

WHEN YOU read this, Jean Pierre Aumont will be out of the French army and back in the Hollywood theater of activities. But this surprise development did not catch Sam Wood and the Hakim Brothers napping.

With the first whispers that Aumont might be out of uniform, Sam and the Hakims made a deal with M-G-M for Jean Pierre, whereby he will play opposite Ginger Rogers in "Heartbeat." Now there's a combination that should make the box office jump and jive.

Ginger Rogers

Of course, M-G-M isn't relinquishing any hold on Aumont, who was plenty hot with the femmes before he went to fight for his native France, where he was wounded twice, and decorated twice. Meanwhile, as Mons. Aumont returns to work, Mrs. Aumont (glamour puss Maria Montez to you) is biding her time, still on suspension at "U."

I DON'T KNOW anyone in Hollywood who has come a longer way than Dana Andrews, who nine years ago was a gas station attendant. You must all remember the story. Sam Goldwyn took him out of the gas station into pictures and he was so promising 20th Century-Fox bought in on his contract. Well, Dana tells me Charles Feldman has arranged a new contract of seven years in which he makes one picture for Goldwyn and one for 20th each year, with the privilege of co-producing two pictures of his own with himself as a star. Let's face it. "Laura" didn't do Dana any harm. He is now one of the hottest bets in the movies.

THOUGHT JUNE DUPREZ was excellent in "None But the Lonely Heart," a very different and unusual role in the line of a leading lady. But somehow she was overshadowed by Cary Grant's Academy candidate performance, and we haven't heard much about her lately. Now Paramount is rectifying that by borrowing June from RKO for the femme lead opposite Alan Ladd in "Calcutta," which John Farrow will direct. The Duprez girl is not easily cast. She is not the typical pretty magazine cover type, but somehow you remember her and her attractive voice long after some of the glamour gals have faded from memory.

SCOTT McKAY, Selznick actor, is really up a tree. He has been offered the juvenile lead with Hugh Herbert and Arleen Whelan in "Oh, Brother" on Broadway, but he is only half through "Duel in the Sun" and can't get a clearance from Selznick. He has wired Selznick to ask whether he is too far along in the film to bow out. I happen to know "Duel in the Sun" will go back in production the moment the strike is over and it's possible to get sets. Speaking of Selznick reminds me that Jack Goldstein has done a really swell job of public relations while Selznick has been in New York on the trades and with the newspapers.

CHATTER IN HOLLYWOOD: Bette Davis, who always looked out the window when anyone asked if she were married to Cpl. Louis Riley, and refused to discuss him or her romance with him, now gives with the big denial. She tells me she is not married to the Corporal and never has been. As for Riley managing her overseas tour, that's out of the question. He's in China and she's going nowhere near China, besides her trip is purely personal. Well, at least, Bette's talking. Sometimes it's a good thing to talk.

IVE MY PRIVATE ideas about whether Jimmy Cagney would accept the coast run of "The Glass Menagerie," but Bill Liebling, who represents the producers, is out from New York for this very reason. I'll grant that Cagney would be perfect for the male lead, but it's really a woman's starring vehicle as Laurette Taylor has already proved. Cagney is too smart an operator where Cagney is concerned to play second fiddle to anyone. But if the play was ever brought to the screen, it might be rewritten to throw the weight to the man, and that might be up Jimmy's street.

SNAPSHOTS OF HOLLYWOOD COLLECTED AT RANDOM: Irish Adrian, Paramount actress, goes to Reno next week to divorce George Jay, New York night club owner. When she is free she will marry Lt. Cornelius Pierce Callaher; Preston Foster has put the ring on Marjorie King's finger and they will be wed as soon as he is legally free; Annabella writes friends she has located her family—her parents and older brother in France, but her younger brother was killed in the war; Lili Damita writes she'll be here soon which probably means she'll appear in court when Errol Flynn's alimony tax suit comes up; John Wayne and Pat Ross, his manager, have bought the Culver Building in Culver City. John was at Ciro's the other eve in a party with Esperanza Bauer, Edna Skelton and Ward Bond. Everyone remarked on the resemblance between Miss Bauer and Jo Wayne, John's attractive ex-wife.

WASHINGTON, June 4—The Congressional Record is one of the most carefully-edited and proof-read publications in the country. It seldom commits any typographical errors.

Rep. Taber

Members have the right to edit and revise their own speeches. If they are quoted as saying something they didn't say they can change it or strike it out altogether.

This being the case, I am convinced that Rep. Walter C. Ploeser of Missouri got off a delightful subtle dig at two of his colleagues the other day.

This was the afternoon that Rep. John Taber of New York went to confer with Rep. Clarence Cannon of Missouri on the bill giving $2500 a year expense allowances to House members. Taber and Cannon apparently did not see eye to eye on something, because Taber emerged with a cut and bleeding lip.

The wounded Congressman—who will receive no Purple Heart, unless, as he intimates, he cuts out Cannon's—charged the Missourian with an unprovoked attack. In his modest way, Taber said he did not strike back because:

"If I had hit him I'd have killed him, I'm so much stronger."

THERE IS some talk that Taber plans to work into even better shape for possible future Congressional differences by running five times around the Capitol every morning, with his pretty young secretary, Miss Rosamond Brister, pacing him on a bicycle. But Miss Brister says she has not been able to get a priority for a bicycle.

However, Miss Brister says she is not stocking bandages and liniment as standard office equipment because she hopes her 65-year-old employer will duck faster in future.

Incidentally, Taber weighs 200 pounds ringside. We were unable to get the ring statistics on Cannon, except that he probably has more fighting experience than Taber, being a year older.

HOWEVER, let us get back to Representative Ploeser and his nifty in the Congressional Record. I suppose, for publication, he will insist that it should have read "upon," with no space between the "up" and the "on," but this was the way his speech, which followed the Taber-Cannon set-to, was reported:

"As a member of the subcommittee handling the bill I had expected the bill would be here before now with the Senate amendment so that the membership might act up on it this afternoon."

Mr. Ploeser, you kill me! They sure acted up!

MISS DOROTHY SHAY, who specializes in hilly-billy songs in which she complains bitterly that her feudin' relatives are running short of neighbors, was doing her stint in the Statler's Embassy Room the other night.

At the ringside, while rendering her own highly-colorful version of "Rum and Coca-Cola," she spotted Sen. Claude Pepper, who comes from her home town of Tallahassee, Fla.

Glancing archly at the rather stuffy Mr. Pepper—and I don't know why I put in the qualifying "rather"—she warbled:

"There's Mr. Pepper,
"Who is very sweet,
"He dances lightly on his feet.
"He and I are from the same home town—
"But, my, how Mr. Pepper gets around!"

Whereupon Mr. Pepper, who yelped in the Senate the other day that he was being put to terrible expense having to go around and make speeches, got up and gave the audience a deep senatorial bow!

THE BUSINESS of dragging Sen. Pepper into the song in question might well be construed as unfair trade practice. Recently, the worthy solon was made an honorary doctor of laws by a Southern college. On his return, he was greeted by one of his colleagues who asked:

"Claude, did they really make you a doctor?"

The Senator from Florida modestly admitted the honor, whereupon his colleague cried:

"Dr. Pepper!—five cents a bottle!"

OL' COL. BILL JOHNSON, distinguished publisher of the Tucson (Ariz.) Daily Citizen, will no doubt be glad to learn that Rep. Richard F. Harless of his state is personally seeing to it that the beautiful Navy Lt. Virginia Ricks of Phoenix is safely married to Army Capt. Robert Boyer. Mr. Harless is going to be best man.

Ol' Col. Bill also may be interested to know that Rep. Harless is right on his toes in trying to solve some of America's transportation problems.

The other day Mr. Harless had occasion to visit the Senate side of the Capitol. He was on hand to see the little subway train, used by Senators, come into the Capitol depot. It had only one passenger aboard.

"A whole train—and only one passenger!" exclaimed Mr. Harless, aghast. "This is little short of an outrage. I think I shall report it to the ODT!"

Boston After Dark

MONDAY MUSINGS: An early sign of less lend-lease is the reappearance on American newsstands and store counters of candy bars . . . From a source so highly-placed in Washington that we wish we were permitted to identify it, this column is told that automobiles of several standard makes, in comparable quality to the product sold as 1942 models, will be available for all citizens "able to get priorities" by the fall . . . That "able to get priorities" phrase is qualifying, to be sure . . . But our informant was not trying to be tricky or cagey . . . He was passing along the word received from the automotive industry.

JOTTINGS: Gen. Mark Clark, hero of the Italian campaign, explains his deep tan as deriving from exposure to the mountain snows the past winter . . . Nantucket realtors are shooing away prospects by saying that there are no rentals—"only sales" . . . And an augury of the impending tourist season on Cape Cod is given in this classified ad in a New York newspaper: "Osterville, Mass. . . . On Cape Cod . . . Sorry, no accommodations available until after Sept. 4 . . . Oyster Harbors Club."

IT SEEMS that the rank of brigadier-general which Producer Michael Todd carried with him on his trip to Europe was given him so that he would be treated with consideration in event of capture by the Germans . . . But Variety, the theatrical trade paper, quibbles with the bestowal of a general's rank on Civilian Mike . . . When his papers were issued, Variety says, Germany had capitulated.

RELEASED from Navy duty as a commander, Paul A. Dever, former attorney general of Massachusetts and Democratic nominee for Governor against Saltonstall (Term 1), has opened a law office in Washington . . . Another former Democratic nominee for high office, Joseph E. Casey of Clinton, who opposed Henry Cabot Lodge for Senator in 1940, has become very successful as a Washington lawyer . . . Retainers from only three clients place the Casey income in six figures.

HOLLYWOOD forecasts make June Allyson the No. 1 prospect of the 1945 female crop of young actresses to become a "name" star . . . Mayor John Corcoran of Cambridge is very ill in a Dorchester hospital . . . When Ida Lupino plays Massachusetts veterans' hospitals two weeks hence, Helmut Dantine, who admires Miss Lupino greatly (and vice versa) may be in this vicinity, either as a vacationer, or on a personal appearance . . . The new Dantine picture, "Escape in the Desert", is none other than our old friend, "The Petrified Forest", completely rewritten so as to be nearly unrecognizable as the Robert E. Sherwood original play which starred Leslie Howard.

LINA BASQUETTE, the toast of Broadway when she worked for Ziegfeld in "Louis the Fourteenth," is preparing to return to the stage as star of a straight play called "Black Limelight" . . . Movies based on the works of Jerome Kern ("Till the Clouds Roll By"), and Cole Porter ("Night and Day") will not influence Irving Berlin, who insists that he will not permit a semi-biographical story of Irving Berlin to be filmed—ever.

MR. BERLIN, however, is busy himself with a lavish musical picture called "Blue Skies" (which was the title of one of his great songs) . . . Irving was always chary of permitting his private life to be projected publicly in any way . . . And the Berlin biography would have to feature his romance with Ellen Mackay, the multi-millionaire's daughter whom he courted with a song heard 'round the world, "Always" . . . When Miss Mackay's unyielding father tried to discourage his daughter's love for the little composer, Ellen—wherever she went—was haunted by the lyrics, "I'll Be Loving You—Always" . . . (It's turned out that way, too . . . The Berlins have been married 20 years now) . .

Reds Ignore U. S. Demands on Oil

WASHINGTON, June 4 (INS)—The State Department, it was officially disclosed today, has asked the Soviet government repeatedly but unsuccessfully to admit United States oil experts into Romania for protection of American petroleum interests.

The request was prompted by the Russian removal last December of equipment from the Romanian oil fields, in which American, British and French companies have substantial interests.

The Moscow explanation at the time was that most of the equipment they removed to Russia was German, and was taken as a legitimate prize of war.

Fashion Miracle Cream for Summer Freckles Beauty

By RUTH MUGGLEBEE, Beauty and Fashion Editor

FRECKLES may be kid stuff . . . but those sweet, impish youngsters have no monopoly on the moth patches of unattractive brown which blossom full strength with the first intensive sunshine . . . and what girl likes to sport a mess of brown polka dots come sun and high water?

True, if these pigment idiosyncrasies could be fused into an expanse of all-over facial bronze . . . and, of course, they can't . . . we, who are prone to them, would look like a dark-skinned sarong girl . . . and very becoming it would be. But separated as they are by our own flesh and fantasy . . . it is harassing for any adult gal to have a swarm of them roaming all over her face and arms like immature daisy centers. And, increasing with prolific numbers the hotter it gets!

We love them on youngsters with pert, turned-up noses and sharp, bristling voices. They are cute and appealingly mischievous. But on grown-ups who like to act their age . . . they are far from impish-looking.

Let us say right here and now and in answer to the countless inquiries that come across our desk . . . there is nothing in all the world that removes freckles. Once you have them, you're stuck with them. But, they can be lightened somewhat . . . they can be covered and obscured from view . . . but done away with, no sirree! Neither medical or cosmetic science has discovered any curative that will thwart the prankishness of the pigment.

But as we said . . . they can be covered up . . . even prevented . . . and with a miracle preparation which when used in a certain way . . . absolutely prevents freckling and tanning . . . even sun and wind burn. This cover cosmetic is an all-over makeup when once applied will remain intact until removed. It will not rub or flake off. And, since it comes in 8 shades . . . you can choose your own complexion . . . from flesh and pink-medium to brunette and suntan.

All you do is take a small amount of this cream coverage with a drop or two of thinning lotion and spread it quickly over the entire area. You can use powder and rouge over this . . . but make sure always to PAT on the powder . . . and do not apply the rouge until this cream makeup is thoroughly dry. Used in this way . . . your face will be divorced from the sun and its freckling affect on your skin.

For the name of this cream coverage against freckling, phone the Beauty Dept., LIBerty 4000, or write me, care of the Boston Evening American, inclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

A TRACERY of giant daffodils in black on a lime background makes the unusual print which fashions this cool crepe dress from the summer collection of Samuel Kass. The dress has a deep V neckline . . . ending in a velvet bow appliqued with cutouts of the print . . . an interesting and eye-catching detail . . . a full front skirt released from a hip yoke . . . and short, easy sleeves.—R. M.

IF YOUR FACE suddenly bursts forth with a mess of freckles and moth patches with the sun . . . there is a miracle cream coverage that will not only prevent such goings on . . . but completely obscure such unattractive pigmentation from view once you've got these brown polka dots roaming over your complexion and arm expanse. Protected in this way . . . come sun or high water you can lift your face to King Sol in utter defiance. Of course, you won't tan, either. Lovely Warner Star Eleanor Parker poses.

My Day

By Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt

HYDE PARK, Sunday—I have a letter which I think shows a bit of shortsightedness that we should take note of and explain very promptly. The writer, evidently someone with boys in the service, feels that people who have worked in war plants—where before the war they were farmers, or household workers, or perhaps mothers of families who stayed at home—should all be urged to return to their original employment and should not receive unemployment compensation.

I don't believe that men or women will have to be urged to return to their former work. A predominant trait of the American people is that they prefer to work than to sit idle. We do not like receiving money and sitting in idleness unless we are ill, tired out or cannot find work. In this last case, unemployment insurance is not only a godsend to the unemployed, but a godsend to the economy of the country as a whole.

UNEMPLOYMENT insurance is a plan to keep our whole economy from starting on a downward spiral.

Many people went to work for patriotic reasons. Others wanted to meet the postwar period in a stable financial condition. In the days when they couldn't sell what they grew, they had to incur debts and mortgage their farms. War work gave them an opportunity to get out of the red, and they took it, as they should. But often they put in long hours at home after the war work was done to keep the farm going, and even the younger children helped.

TO DENY unemployment insurance to war workers would be unwise. Every citizen, including returning servicemen, depends for a livelihood on factories, farms and businesses going at full tilt. Our servicemen must find work. Unless people are able to buy food and clothing and goods of all kinds, the reconversion period may start us on a new depression. Anyone who went through the early thirties can hardly wish to see those conditions return.

President Truman has done a wise thing in advocating more generous unemployment insurance.

Lunches for Summer Days

By MARTHA LEE

NOTHING "hits the spot" on a spring or summer day like a tall, cool milk drink—and to add to the enjoyment serve dainty tea sandwiches or wafers. Cold milk served plain or with fresh fruit, chocolate, peppermint and other flavors makes it adaptable to informal "between-meal-snacks" or refreshments.

To add the finishing touch to your beverages, float a large mound of ice cream on top—the refreshing coolness of milk combined with ice cream will give renewed energy to finish the day's work. This banana milk punch is particularly refreshing, or you might like to use other fresh fruit in season.

BANANA MILK PUNCH

½ Ripe bananas ½ tsp. salt
2 Eggs, separated
1 qt. milk, chilled
Chopped nuts 1 tsp. vanilla
1 pint ice cream

Slice bananas and mash until smooth and creamy, or put through sieve. Beat egg yolks until thick and lemon colored. Add chilled milk, mashed banana, salt, and vanilla. Beat egg whites until stiff and fold into banana mixture blending thoroughly. Serve very cold, topping each glass with 3 tablespoons of vanilla ice cream and a sprinkling of grated nutmeg or chopped nuts.

COTTAGE CHEESE SANDWICHES

Use either white, whole wheat or cracked wheat bread. Spread the bread first with mustard and then cover with a generous serving of cottage cheese. Chopped nuts, olives, pimientos, dates or raisins may be added if desired.

If you prefer the open faced sandwich, follow this recipe: First, cut the bread into attractive shapes with cookie cutters. Spread with mustard and cottage cheese. Top with any of the following: nut meats, pickles, cherries, pimiento, or stuffed olives.

Cottage cheese, minced onion and sliced radishes make an excellent filling.

For a cheese and fruit sandwich filling, use ½ cup cottage cheese, 1 cup crushed canned pineapple, salt, orange juice to moisten. Blend thoroughly and use on either white or brown breads.

A cheese and pimiento filling is made this way: 1 cup cottage cheese, 2 tbsp. minced pimiento, salt, liquor from stuffed olives; garnish of stuffed olives cut into rings placed on top of sandwich.

Mix 1 cup cottage cheese with ½ tsp. salt, 2 tbsp. sour cream and 1 tbsp. chopped pimiento.

CREAM CHEESE FILLINGS

Chop dates and nuts and moisten with cream of mayonnaise.

Combine orange marmalade with cream cheese; chop oranges if pieces are large.

Mix 1 package (3 oz.) cream cheese with 1 cup crushed pineapple, 2 tbsp. pineapple juice, 1 tbsp. grated carrot and ⅛ tsp. salt.

Spread bread with cream cheese moistened with cream, then with guava jelly.

PEANUT BUTTER SPREADS

Use a variety of breads—white, rye, bran, whole wheat, muffins, nut or fruit breads, for peanut butter sandwiches. Spread peanut butter to the edge of bread as this helps keep the bread moist.

Sliced bananas with peanut butter; also sliced oranges, grated orange rind, orange marmalade, chopped dates or raisins, or strawberry jam.

Peanut butter with chopped celery, sliced tomatoes, grated carrots, sliced cucumbers, or minced green pepper.

One-half cup chopped, pitted, cooked prunes, ½ cup peanut butter, 2 tsp. lemon juice, 2 tsp. prune juice or water, bread, butter or margarine.

One-half cup peanut butter, 1 cup grated raw carrot, 2 tbsp. mayonnaise, bread, butter or margarine.

Combine ½ cup peanut butter with 2 tsp. lemon juice, 2 tsp. sugar, 1 tsp. salt and 6 to 8 tbsp. evaporated milk. Mix well.

Styled for Coolness

By BETTINA BEDWELL

THE SUIT you'll be wearing in town this summer will not be very heavy, but to keep you as cool as can be designers have prepared accessories to make your burden of clothes next to nothing.

There are a lot of halter blousses, for instance, with very little at the front and nothing, nothing at all, over the arms and back. These are to be worn with your town suit, and they are, of course, fine and dandy with slacks or shorts in the country.

Arpad, famed designer of fashionable accessories, made the halter blouse in our sketch. And he fixed up a headband to match it. Made of gray, pink and white-striped Hope Skillman gingham, the halter is draped at the neckline and ties sashlike at the back.

The Correct Thing

By ELINOR AMES

BE TACTFUL, PLEASE! Don't greet a friend's new escort with, "So you're the reason she can't eat. It's love, I guess," or "My, you are as good looking as Jean said!" This kind of chatter is embarrassing—and has blighted many a budding romance.

"I wuz thinkin'...."

by Izzy Ort

that with so many of the boys comin' back it makes me feel like a million when the first thing they do is to come in and see their old pal, yers truly, and it makes me awfully proud of every bond I've bought, every little bit of work, money or sacrifice I've contributed here on the home front. I'd sure hate to be facing these boys coming off the ships if I didn't have a bond to my name, a pint of blood or a single home front contribution to my credit . . . If any of you are in that kind of a boat it's time to snap out of it and clean your slate before the boys in the Pacific git back. Jess start off with buying bonds, bonds, and moar bonds in support of the mighty Seventh . . . If yer one of the many fokes who have been doing what they can, don't relax, but remember that thousands of the boys gittin' back from Europe are jess passin' through on their way to more blood and tears, and need our support, especially our BONDS . . . If you fokes want an eyeful of real service veterans, I don't know of a better place to get it than in me popular Grille and swank El Tropico Room here on Essex street, coz hundreds of them will tell you that Ort's is the servicemen's favorite, from noon till closing. King's Fate Hinges On Ontario Poll

OTTAWA, June 4 (AP)—Ontario, Canada's largest province, voted today for a new legislature in balloting watched closely by all the dominion for a clue to the probable fate of Prime Minister Mackenzie King's federal government in a general election to be held a week from now.

The traditionally conservative province, with a population of nearly 4,000,000, has approximately one-third of all Canada's voters, and the provincial voting thus can provide a substantial preview of the federal election.

BLACK WIDOW, BEWARE!

LOS ANGELES, Calif., June 4 (AP)—A tiny parasite which could doom the deadly black widow spider to extinction has been discovered, according to Dr. W. Dwight Pierce, chief curator of entomology at the Los Angeles county museum.

Color Film of Iwo Battle on Hub Screens Wednesday

The gallant struggle of the Marine Corps to take Iwo Jima has been recorded in 19 grim minutes of concentrated sound and fury in "To the Shores of Iwo Jima," a War Activities release opening Wednesday at downtown movie houses.

Cut from 300,000 feet of Technicolor film, exposed by 106 combat cameramen of the Navy, Marine Corps and Coast Guard, the harrowing details of the grim process of reducing an island fortress, emerge as one of the strongest combat films of the Pacific War.

The classic pattern of Pacific attack is repeated: the big guns of the fleet sow destruction, air power is brought to bear in a deadly softening-up process, and then the landing craft leave the shelter of the big ships and inch their way toward the desolate mass of rock that is Iwo Jima.

Of the 106 combat cameramen who took part in the making of this film, 16 have been reported wounded, two were killed and one is missing in action.

The film arrived only five days after 'D-Day' at Iwo Jima and then was shipped to Hollywood, where Capt. Milton Sperling of the Marines took over the job of editing at Warner Bros. Studio.

By AUSTEN LAKE

I ASK OUR HUMANITARIANS to examine this snapshot. I took it on the outskirts of Limbach, near the border of Czechoslavakia on April 17, 1945. At the moment hostilities were still raging, the 4th Armored was chilling the last Reich resistance and capturing multitudes of German troops including many girls and teen age boys.

This is a picture of Wehrmacht and SS "helferinned," or camp followers whose volunteer duties were to administer to the physical demands of German troops. Their ages ranged from 16 to 22 and, under interrogation by U. S. interpreters they admitted optional enlistment as "soldier-comforters" in a "legalized" military prostitution corps. They are one of a large group of such post-adolescents captured from this branch of the German armies.

Don't mistake! It is not shame or embarrassment which caused these girls to cover their faces or turn their backs. It was sheer belligerence and sneering contempt for their captors. Across the field as I snapped this photo were some thousand German male PWs—men whom these girls had "serviced" as their contribution toward the national war effort—men who were discretely amused by their theatrical truculence and derisive behaviour toward American guards.

THE SECOND GIRL FROM THE LEFT curled her lips insolently as she boastfully admitted that, at the moment, she was pregnant "in the service of her country." A moment later she extended her right arm stiffly and shrilled "Heil Hitler," which some of her sisterhood echoed with sullen enthusiasm. That brought U. S. guards running angrily! But there wasn't much they could do about it in their obvious bewilderment of how to handle soldiers of the opposite sex.

Would you say these girls are salvageable through some mysterious scheme of U. S. social theory which advocates a "cure" by some form of democratic prophylaxis? And how would you deal with these volunteer, state-organized aphrodytes who regard themselves as sacrificial, patriotic contributers to Germany's "total war"?

Most of these girls showed a feline intelligence. The one in the foreground, in the light raincoat and with her hands to her face, spoke a good brand of high-school English. Under persistent questioning she said her father was an army surgeon with prewar civilian practice in Leipzig. She had joined the "Helferrined" through personal conviction. She admitted to one "legalized" birth but did not know the whereabouts of the male child other than it was in "custody" of the state.

Was she proud of her "contribution"? Ja-yes, she said, with a toss of her turbanned head! Yes, she hoped the child would some day become a German soldier "of liberation." Then turning to the other girls she translated her remarks and they nodded vigorous confirmation.

Grammar School Snipers!

MIND YOU, THESE GERMAN GIRLS and their military sisterhood are only one wing of the Hitler youth program. Another branch was the multitude of kid-soldiers of grammar school age which the Fourth Armored captured in ill-fitting uniforms—glowering, baby-faced juniors who proudly wore the ensignia of snipers, panzerfaust (bazookamen) and SS troopers—hard-minded, steel-eyed juveniles who pulled triggers against hopeless odds and gloried in their character of irreconcilable tough guys. Ask any U. S. spearhead soldier about these fuzz-faced adolescent killers and they'll testify they were among the most savage of Germany's last ditch fighters.

The sniper who wounded Maj. Bill Hunter of CCB and killed a staff sergeant and, by some miracle of mischance, only shot out a front tire and rim from my own jeep (Lt. Col. Arthur Peterson of 3 Ivanhoe st., Worcester, was there and can certify this statement) was a kid no older than 15, from the post-battle appearance of his bullet-riddled body. He had chosen an ambush in a roadside pile of lumber and fired point blank as we passed through the town of Serba. Yet, as he later lay dead, his blood-blanched cheeks showed he had never known the feel of a razor.

What became of these girls in the above photo I do not know, except that they and their sordid sisterhood were trucked away in sequestered lots under heavy guard. They were a heavy liability and their final disposition in the great antheap of Germany is only another of the many thorny problems of occupation.

So I challenge our American brain-bureaucrats to define the terms by which they would "re-educate" such Germany juveniles and ask them to come down from their theoretical rooftops to concrete cases. By what method would they carry their brand of salvation to such Nazi junior heathen? By Whom and How?

Metko Keys Sox Flag Talk

By HUCK FINNEGAN

One of baseball's strangest phenomena is the inability of certain good hitters to get going in the spring. Ted Williams was one such. In '42, when he led the league with .356, he was down in the .250's until June. "I was always a late starter," he used to say. In the same category is George "Cat" Metkovich, who sparkled all afternoon as the Sox split their Sunday twin bill (4-3, 3-4) with the Tigers.

The Sox first sacker got five hits for the day, stole two bases, and in the ninth inning of the nightcap hit what appeared to be a game-winning homer.

"I though it was going into the stands but at the last minute it sunk right into my hands," explained Roy Cullenbine, Detroit right-hander.

The drive was made at the expense of southpaw Hal Newhouser, 29-game winner last year, and only the Sunday before the left-handed hitting Metkovich was lifted from the lineup when a southpaw, Ed Lopat, was pitching for the White Sox.

"I can't explain it," said the "Cat" about his failure to hit in April or May. "I know last year I was hitting about .073 on June 3. Think I had only four hits in my first 64 trips to the plate. I never could get going in the spring, even in the minors."

On the morning of June 3, '45, Metkovich was hitting a tiny .237. During the twin bill he upped his mark to .262, and it seems he's on his way again. If he is, the Sox may yet figure in the pennant race. Ferriss has given the pitching department a terrific uplife, in fact, given the whole club a "shot in the arm."

"We're only five games out of first place," commented Ben Steiner. "Just imagine where we'd be if we had won only half of those eight straight we dropped at season's start. We'll get up there yet."

The boys are looking up. There'll be some fun in New York next week-end when they play four games with the Yanks.

Off day today, but Mike Ryba had Emmett O'Neill and Dave Ferriss out chasing fungoes . . . The "We want Ferriss chant" went up in the first game, and when Tobin singled Lake home in the eighth with two out Cronin sent the "Peepul's Choice" rushing to the bullpen. He had time for only 12 throws before he relieved Jim Wilson in the ninth. He passed Trout, the first batter, got the next three men nicely . . . Wilson had given up only six hits but his six walks kept him in trouble.

* * *

Metko singled three times running in the opener, stole third and second, scored twice, batted in a run. In the nightcap he batted in the Sox first run, beat out a bunt later, and his ninth inning clout which Cullenbine caught gave the fans their last chance to "Oooooo—oo!" . . . Crowd of 15,522 paid, and there was only a handful in the park at 1:30 because of the a. m. rain . . . The fans were talking pennant as they filed happily from the park . . . Sox have won 10, lost 5 at home.

* * *

Philadelphia here tomorrow for Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday games. Ferriss pitches tomorrow, going after his eighth win. Christopher of the A's has won 8, lost 2 . . . Eddie Lake hit into DP's first two times up, but was very much in the Tigers' hair the rest of the day. He led off the eighth with a double and scored the winning run. In the nightcap he doubled in the sixth and scored, reached in the eighth after making a sparkling DP unassisted.

* * *

Terry was belted for three runs in the fifth. George Woods relieved and gave up only one hit, no runs in the last four frames, but re-opened his heel wound in the doing . . . "Newhouser didn't throw me a fast ball after I singled in the first," said Metko. "The ball I hit in the ninth was an inside curve." . . . Tobin was benched in the second game because a southpaw was working.

Ray Metcalf Has Kept Spangled Game Sharp

By JACK CONWAY

RAY METCALF has done much for New England racing by the fine manner in which he has conditioned Spangled Game for his four winning New England starts at Narragansett Park . . . Spangled Game was at his best in the $10,000 added Rhode Island Handicap when he won by a neck over Easy Chance in a driving finish.

They say weight can stop any horse . . . Spangled Game, however, proved he can carry 122 pounds and still win . . . Easy Chance had a light impost of 102 pounds.

Charley McLennan

There was $226,308 bet on the Rhode Island Handicap and most of this money rode with Spangled Game, who was a 3-to-5 shot . . . With the public having so much faith in a horse, it helps the turf sport when he wins . . . Metcalf has managed to keep Spangled Game razor sharp since racing opened at Narragansett Park, which is a tribute to his ability as a trainer . . . Spangled Game is owned by Metcalf and Ber Mar Farm . . . This 4-year-old son of Reigh Count was purchased for $8000 and he will earn this money many times over during 1945 . . . The net value of Saturday's purse alone was $8660.

Gives Wilson Winners

DAVE WILSON, champion New England handicapper for the past ten years, was having breakfast in the coffee shop of a Providence hotel Saturday morning. His identity was unknown to his waitress.

"Ever bet on horses?" the girl asked Wilson.

"Oh, yes," replied Dave.

"I'll give you a couple of horses that are running at Narragansett Park today," went on the girl. "They are Voucher and Davitt. The owner gave them to me, and I only hope I'll be able to get to the track in time to bet on the two horses."

Wilson chuckled and ate his breakfast. He told me the story in the press box as first Voucher at $15 and Davitt at $11.80 came down in front.

"I hope the girl bet the horses," said Dave. "You know, tips on horses don't always win."

THE CUSTOMERS' MAN in the downtown brokerage office whom I met in the clubhouse as he tried to pick a long shot to beat Spangled Game told of a soldier who has made a stock market killing.

"The soldier was going overseas and he had $2000," said the customers' man. "He told me to buy 1000 shares of International Tel. & Tel., which at the time was selling for $2 a share, for his account. He said that if we didn't win the war against Germany that he would probably never come home and that it did not matter much what happened to his money. He felt, however, that we would win the war and that International Tel. & Tel. would go skyrocketing . . . The stock is above $29 a share, and the soldier already has a $27,000 paper profit . . . Quite a nest egg for him when he gets mustered out of service."

There also have been some handsome profits made on Narragansett race track stock . . . This stock dropped from $12 to under $8 a share when Jimmy Byrnes slapped the ban on racing, while recent quotations have been above $15 a share . . . Persons who bought around $8 have seen their investment almost double in value.

Busy Days at Suffolk

WITH THE 54-day Suffolk Downs meeting scheduled to open next Monday, there is great activity at the East Boston track . . . Eben Pons says there are already 300 horses on the grounds . . . There will be as many more new horses arrive this week, while over the weekend there will be many shipments of horses from Narragansett Park.

Racing Secretary Charley McLennan will have ample horses to fill his cards . . . It is likely that the East Boston track will have one of the most successful meetings in its history . . . Allan Wilson, president, will be in charge of the racing program . . . He has the confidence of the horsemen and of the public and he is sure to do a top job.

DROOPERT, YOU'RE READY TO COLLAPSE. LET ME CARRY BURPLEY A WHILE. YOU'VE BEEN LUGGING HIM AROUND FOR HOURS WITHOUT A REST. GIVE HIM TO ME I SAY!!
OKAY, DEAR, PUFF-PUFF, I AM A LITTLE FAGGED, PUFF-PUFF-BE ALL RIGHT IN A MINUTE...
SO HE LET HER PACK THE KID FOR A FEW MINUTES —
LOOK AT THAT BIG HULK OF A BRUTE, LETTING THAT POOR LITTLE WOMAN CARRY THAT CHILD. FOR TWO CENTS I'D GIVE HIM A PIECE OF MY MIND.
HORSE-WHIPPING IS TOO GOOD FOR THE LIKES OF HIM, SAYS I.

Yale's Meyer Dies Hero

OKINAWA, May 5 (delayed) (AP)—Marine Lt. Quentin Meyer, former Yale football star, was killed in action today while going to the assistance of a wounded member of his squad.

The one-time Eli halfback, a shore spotter for naval guns supporting the southern Okinawa offensive, was killed during a search for a new observation position. His death occurred at noon on the day he was to have been relieved after 11 days of spotting targets.

S-Sgt. William Boniface, Belair, Md., Marine combat correspondent, formerly with the Baltimore Sun, said Meyer was along the First Marine Division front in the drive toward Naha. While passing in front of a cave, a wireman in his liaison unit was wounded by a Japanese sniper. Meyer rushed to his aid and was killed by shrapnel from a grenade hurled from the cave.

The son of Cord Meyer, New York City, Meyer won the Silver Star for naval liaison work during the Peleliu campaign. On that occasion, he swam 400 yards to safety after being cut off

The Terry clock, made in 1814

Like the coveted clocks that Eli Terry made more than a century ago, Wilson whiskey reflects the craftsmanship of the era in which it was first enjoyed. No wonder this pioneer whiskey made friends then and kept on making them as the years ticked slowly away.
